

I feel that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. As of the start of 2002 with this law in effect, my time at home has been less interrupted by annoying phone solicitation. Now at dinner time, early in the morning or on weekends does my phone ring for such interruptions. Overall this law has been a GREAT addition and would and have highly recommended this law and it's benifits to all Indiana residents.
